Bulletproof Textile Invented.

The Rome Corriere del Polessina announces an invention by the curate of Ariano consisting of an imperforable textile fabric. Numerous rifle and revolver shots have been fired at the material from a distance of a few yards without penetrating it. The projectiles are said to have fallen without leaving a trace on the fabric. The cure will offer his invention to the government.

WHEN KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE GLASS OF SALTS

Eat Less Meat If Kidneys Hurt or You Have Backache or Bladder Misery—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

TOLEDO'S FINE ELECTRIC FLAG

The Toledo (O.) courthouse was one of the first public buildings in America on which was erected an electrically lighted flag to carry its lesson of patriotism by night as well as by day. The electric flag was originated by E. L. Frantz of Cleveland, and a number of cities have adopted the idea.

YARNS FROM PAPER

New Industries Spring Up as Result of War.

Factory in England Now Spins Threads Fine Enough for Gas Mantles and Strong Enough to Tie Up a Ship.

London.—London has, no doubt, added many new industries to its list since the war began, but few, perhaps, of greater importance and fascinating interest than that of paper spinning and weaving.

I have had the opportunity of seeing some wonderful things in the way of yarns and textiles manufactured from paper pulp, and also of seeing a demonstration plant at work spinning threads of paper into twine fine enough for gas mantles and strong enough to hold a ship.

This wonderland is to be found in Southwark and at the works of the Textile Engineering company, which is now supplying British-made machinery, made according to its patents, for the manufacture of every kind of thing imaginable which formerly was made of hemp and jute and flax.

"The things you see around you," said Mr. George Seaton Mills, the managing director of the company, "are new, and yet they are not new. What I mean is that the people of China, in the days of Confucius, probably twisted a strip of paper in the fingers absent-mindedly and found it had remarkable tensile strength, but what we have done is to make that idea into a practical proposition."

"The Germans, with their faculty for imitation, have spun paper for years, but they never could spin it fast enough to make it pay. We now have found means of spinning the paper four or five times faster than the Germans and of producing the goods four per cent cheaper."

ANNAPOLIS DEBUTANTE

Mr. Mills then showed me around the works and demonstrated all the processes, from the raw material, which in this case is a reel of fine Canadian wood pulp, to the highly finished fancy wall coverings in pattern and color.

The paper is first cut into strips according to the width of yarn or rope strand required, then twisted on frames very similar to those used in cotton or woolen manufacture, and afterward, by means of spools of wet and warp, the material is transferred to looms which will weave anything, plain or fancy, ribbed or patterned.

Incidentally, the invention will solve the great problem of how to make up the supply of packing string, for paper is now proved to be capable of carrying any reasonable weight.

HUNTS 19 YEARS FOR UNCLES

Men Named Poe, and Relatives of the Writer, Thought to Be in California.

Chico, Cal.—Continuing a search for her two uncles which has extended over a period of 19 years, Mrs. Nellie E. Miller, whose father was the first cousin of Edgar Allan Poe, arrived in Chico recently.

Her uncles, Edgar Allan Poe and Clifford Poe, were last heard from in 1876, when she was at her home in Hutchinson, Kan., at which time they were in San Francisco, having come there from their home in Hutchinson.

Mrs. Miller came to California in 1896, and since then has conducted a search for her uncles, which has taken her to various parts of California. She first went to Redding, where she entered the employ of Judge F. P. Primm as stenographer.

From Redding she went to Yakima, Wash., where she remained for nine years. For five years she was employed as court reporter there. Leaving Yakima she went to Eureka, thence to San Francisco, and thence to Reno, Nev., where she entered the employ of Senator Huskey.

Mrs. Miller has had no trace of her uncles since the San Francisco fire and earthquake in 1906, and fears they perished in the disaster.

She believes her uncles, if alive, would be anxious to hear from her, and is unable to account for her inability to locate them in this event.

USES TICKET 29 YEARS OLD

Purchaser Arrested Just Before Train Started and Has Been in Prison Since.

Kansas City.—A man whose face was white and drawn has just ended a long-delayed journey. He entered a train at the Union station here and after a while gave his ticket to the conductor, who regarded it curiously. The ticket called for a trip to Gallatin, Mo., was issued by the Wabash & Pacific railway in 1886 and was good still.

The passenger told his story briefly, sadly. Twenty-nine years ago he was traveling from Leavenworth to Gallatin. He had arrived in Kansas City and bought a ticket to Gallatin when he was arrested and taken back to Leavenworth. Found guilty, he had served 29 years in the federal prison in Leavenworth.

GLASS GIVES "$1" TRUE RING

Counterfeit Dollar Is Detected by New Appearance and Twenty-Year-Old Date.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Everyone here is on the lookout for what is said to be the most deceptive of silver dollar counterfeiters that has appeared for a long time.

The counterfeit is said to "ring true," but examination of one of the "dollars" disclosed that this quality was given to it by the use of glass. The real point upon which detection rests is the new appearance despite the date of 20 years ago.

SCOTS GET HAGGIS

Men in Trenches to Live on Food of Warriors.

British War Office Gives Official Recognition to the National Dish of Scots—Famed in Song and Story.

London.—Scotchmen all over the world should thrill with delight at the news that the war office at last has given its official recognition to their national dish, the haggis. With the laudable object of making the trenches as homelike as possible to the Scottish troops, Mrs. Porter Brown of No. 16 Holland road, Kensington, is raising a fund to provide for them real Scotch haggis in bulk. If this does not bring to them the scent of the heather and the music of the burn nothing will.

The haggis is one of the few national dishes which has retained its splendid isolation. Except maybe on Burns nights or at private gatherings of exiles from north of the Tweed it is seldom seen in England. To Scotch whisky and shortbread, especially the former, the Southron has taken very kindly, but to him the haggis is still an alien, probably because it is still too strong for his more delicate stomach.

For the "great chieftain o' the puddin' race," as Burns calls it, is to the Saasnach a fearful and wonderful wild fowl. It is made of a sheep's heart, liver and lungs, with some of the smaller intestines. These are seasoned with pepper, salt and onions, and the whole is chopped up fine, with suet and oatmeal. Then the mixture is rammed into the membrane of a sheep's stomach and boiled. And this it is which has helped to make Scotland what she is today. Says Burns, addressing the haggis:

But mark the rustic, haggis fed,
The trembling earth responds his tread.
Clap in his white neck a blade,
He'll mak' it whistle;
An' jugs an' arms, an' heads will aned
Like taps o' thrissles.

Evidently not bad stuff to fight on. And now Mrs. Brown's fund is to be recognized by the war office. Her rich and rare puddings are to go to the front with the sanction of the powers that be; and "Jock" and "Tam" once again will sit around their well beloved dish all hot from the pot. And when they have eaten of it, woe betide the "boche" that comes within striking distance of their "walle nieves." There will be dirty work. For, as a Scotchman will tell you, there is all Scotland in the haggis. There is Bannockburn and Flodden Field and the Forty-Five. There is the wind in the heather and the plunge of the salmon stream.

With a bit of haggis on his dirk the Scot can see in its stream the banks and braes o' Bonnie Doon and the bonnie, bonnie banks o' Loch Lomond. He will feel his foot once more on his native heath, and there will be sparks. But, as a brither Scot would add, their "nieves" would be all the more "walle" if Mrs. Brown would only see to it that a proportionate quantity of mellow "Old Orkney" were sent to stir into the haggis.

VICTIM OF WAR STRAIN

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any drug-gist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

Stranger to Elevators.

Mrs. Brown is very stout, but she is also most considerate about other people.

The other day she went into a large hotel to call on a friend. The clerk sent her to the lift. There a small boy opened the door for her.

"Are you going up, ma'am?" he asked, politely.

Mrs. Brown eyed his slender figure and thought of her own ample proportions.

"Yes, I am, my boy," she answered, with a kindly smile. "But goodness me, a little fellow like you can't pull me up in that thing!"—Unidentified.

Duly Cautious.

The street car was crowded, and a gentleman with kindly twinkles in his eyes took five-year old Tom upon his lap.

"This will be better than standing, won't it, my boy?" he suggested.

"Uh, huh," Tom replied without enthusiasm. He had rather enjoyed lurching about the aisle, just like his father.

"But you want to be careful that I don't pick your pocket," the gentleman cautioned in a whisper.

"Can't," Tom retorted, his voice somewhat muffled, "soon as I saw you looking at me I put my penny in my mouth."—Judge.

New Strength for Lame Backs and Worn-out Conditions

Bumper Grain Crops

Good Markets—High Prices
Prizes Awarded to Western Canada for Wheat, Oats, Barley, Alfalfa and Grasses

The winnings of Western Canada at the Soil Products Exposition at Denver were easily made. The list comprised Wheat, Oats, Barley and Grasses, the most important being the prizes for Wheat and Oats and sweep stake on Alfalfa.

No less important than the splendid quality of Western Canada's wheat and other grains, is the excellence of the cattle fed and fattened on the grasses of that country. A recent shipment of cattle to Chicago topped the market in that city for quality and price.

Western Canada produced in 1915 one-third as much wheat as all of the United States, or over 300,000,000 bushels.

Canada in proportion to population has a greater exportable surplus of wheat this year than any country in the world, and at present prices you can figure out the revenue for the producer. In Western Canada you will find good markets, splendid schools, exceptional social conditions, perfect climate and other great attractions. There is no war tax on land and no conscription.
